

The FCC proposal to have broadcasters tape their broadcasts from 6AM to 10PM is grossly excessive. This requirement places an undue burden on broadcasters who have no history of noncompliance. There are much more efficient means to improve enforcement of indecency. The Commission overlooks the huge burden that this requirement would place on smaller stations and smaller markets.